SUMMARY

I presently reside in Berlin, Germany, holding a valid visa for a residence permit. I am a junior front-end developer who has recently graduated from Le Wagon's intensive web development bootcamp. Throughout the program, I successfully executed various projects focused on delivering innovative planning tools for users. With my seven years in Accounting background, I bring skills like detail-orientation, critical thinking, and collaboration to my new role as a junior front-end developer. In the past year, I dedicated my time to advancing my skills in web development and enhancing my proficiency in the German language, reflecting my commitment to continual growth in my evolving career.
